Don't follow trends, just define style

Inspired by the bird 's-eye view of the city's buildings, with elegant lines and brushstrokes, the veins of the metropolis are transformed into art on the tips of the feet.

The outline of the city from a God's perspective.
Every line is a rhapsody of human civilization. A three-dimensional chessboard woven with steel and iron, we are the tiny pixels moving through it.
When architectural lines meet soft fabrics, prosperity and tranquility blend here. The new KinFlor carpet features a unique and imaginative design with a sense of lines. It is not just a simple carpet but an urban poem laid beneath your feet, as if every step you take is like strolling along a miniature city skyline.

Less is more, but the devil is in the detail.

Clean lines build a modern aesthetic skeleton, while unique textures - like fingerprints on the architectural skin - become the only language when all the decorations are removed. Those seemingly accidental ups and downs are in fact carefully designed declarations of silence.

Aeroview Series-03#

Spread the abstract painting on the oor.
Soft and steady new color matching, geometric line strokes, inject new vitality into the carpet, crisscrossing line texture, so that the texture becomes the relief of space, which is left to the interaction of light and shadow - the so-called life aesthetics, which should be available.

Aeroview Series-05#

Texture is the whisper of the carpet.

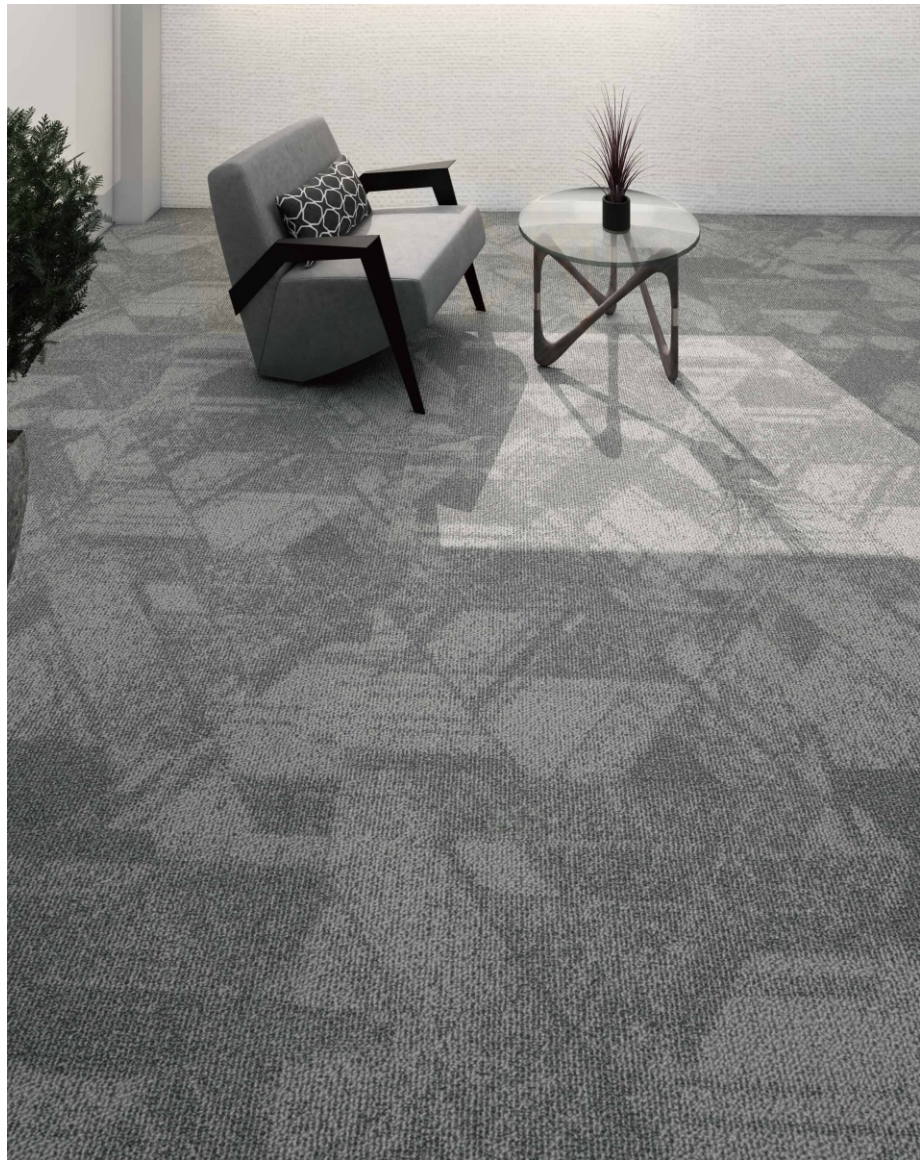

Those seemingly random folds and weaves are the designer's carefully designed abstract paintings that can be strolled.

Let the geometric line become the guide, let the color become the emotion - the so-called high sense, never need to publicize.

We read the carpet on our toes, recording the shape of time with texture.

Aeroview Series-06#

The gentle geometry of the toes.

The carpet wraps the edges with soft texture, and the colors flow and collide among the geometric lines - allowing rationality and sensibility to reach a perfect reconciliation on the ground.

The crisscrossing lines are like a city map on the carpet, inviting you to stroll through it.

Aeroview Series-07#

The rhythm of lines and the collision of colors,
every step is in the pulse of art.
When the metrical connotations of the East and the structure of Western aesthetics blend here, they become the language of space - expressing silent elegance through lines.

Integration and innovation

The elegant brushstrokes on the urban canvas. Under the architect's compass and ruler, there are orderly lines, random textures, whether they are accidents, coincidences, or intentional. The breathtaking landscapes that have emerged make every inch of the design brim with the tension of dialogue.
